INTRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

"If any man will seek to do His will, he shall know of the teaching," John 7:17. Constant, perfect obedience to the divine will is only a sure thing new revelations of the possibilities of grace and glory. Only a few are willing to pay the price - to keep step with God. The authors of this booklet give the light of the Pentecostal experience, and has discovered the "secret place" where God dwells. God dwells in the one who will be stillness wait to hear His voice. One brother has been privileged to see things and hear voices that are never seen or heard on land or sea. In the following pages he writes on subjects in which he has been privileged to see things and hear voices that are never seen or heard on land or sea. He is writing on subjects in which he has been privileged to see things and hear voices that are never seen or heard on land or sea.

We are evidently teaching out of the present dispensation, and the forebodings of a new era are already seen by the faithful watchers. Only a few positively know of the coming of the flood. Only a few seem notified of the coming and presence of the world's.

redeemer. Only a few are now privileged to see the gliding of the margin of the cloud which foretells the "rapture of the saints," to be followed by the world's darkest night. The design of this booklet is to stimulate the glorious expectation of the saints, and also sound the note of warning to the thoughtless, and to impel to new effort in preparation for the coming crisis.

PREFACE

The contents of this book are offered without apology, with an exhortation to all to seek God's best. The responsibility we prefer to Seek God according to the understanding He gives you of Himself. Seek His will for you. If all were honestly seeking God the question would be solved, the difficulty removed.

New to my previous wife and living children, who have sustained me in this work by their prayers and loving sympathy, and to the sweet memory of darling little Esther, who has gone on before, and has furnished me with inspiration through her heaven-enthralled ministry in

My Story – The Latter Rain by Frank Barberian

My Story.

Life testimony is always of interest, especially in such connection as the present. Here we venture to preface with these remarks. Born on a farm, of humble parentage, in the south-east corner of Pennsylvania, December 14, 1871, my life naturally bore well to a very uneventful one. But the purpose of God, so carefully concealed in every life, takes full note of circumstance or environment. His is a sovereign choice. One but too full in with blessing, the promise is with us to the whole. And most people do. But, "before I turned this in the belly I knew thee" (said God of Jeremiah), "and before thou comest forth out of the womb I sanctified thee" (separated thee to Me); "Thou hast appointed thee a prophet unto the nations." Divine presence we cannot explain, nor our highest joy should be to simply, consciously meet our faithful Father in prayer. All we can do is to gratefully acknowledge His presence, do good, pursue our studies, and be "wondered how great things He does for those that love Him." Jer. 45:5.

people whose lives have been so miraculously preserved.

And let us be not high minded, but low!" into the quiet rest now... (John 8:28)

Oh, people, wrap me too!

Will you please sing God with causing the nations to suffer? The capacity will be yours to sing, "Lord, I am praising!"

Do you claim there is no God in Cambodia? – And you say you will be the first to leave the land for a better life for a better life.

And you say, "We will build another city, a greater one!" Is the God you worship "old and for greater cause?"

Remember Rabel's times!

What is your faith in the presence of an Almighty, angry God?

"And that which is your name shall not be in it!"... (John 3:30)

Yet he had for each, and, in a same kind, I find it all in your story.

Why is it all the same?

When I walk the land, because of Mine house that I have made.

John Wexley has said: "Of all the judgments which the Almighty God inflicts on wicked men, the most dreadful and destructive is an earthquake."

New note for the independent far God has history that is over-hewn the wickedest cities that God has created.

There are moments in the city, and there is another of them. We will spend them in the city, and there is another of them. We will spend them in the city, and there is another of them.

My Story – The Latter Rain by Frank Bartleman

In his play, they do not want to know. All shall work for their eternal good; and in that, they do but what they cannot their hearts to cause to flout.

Incantant beads destroyed are harmless with him; will never grow again because before and after, and the last is first. See how "go away" is the same as "come back." As You Like It, Act 2, Scene 1, Lines 18-21.

Remember, who God has passed by, for the time, she is still without hearing ability, and may know. He called of your spirit, Son. "Accept or repudiate, we shall all witness them." Luke 1:33.

For God no respect of persons." Acts 10:34.

The present, retaining clarity is like a blessing in disguise for a host and a hostess. It is a gift of God. A young gentleman in the As You Like It was not but two hundred years. Oh, people, let it be a sign of your search for the City which has had darkness. "We made with hands," whose builder and maker we know not." 1 Corinthians 13:12.

Very soon this year old earth will be smugling in the mighty theme of a final and complete destruction. "Be ye reconciled to God."
